At For Kids' Sake, our goals are simple.
We want to change the world. That's all.

We believe if children are treated with dignity and respect, listened to and taken seriously, they will grow up treating others the same way.

But like any important work, parents need tools to achieve success and satisfaction.

For lack of knowing what else to do to make kids behave, adults may use ridicule, humiliation or punishment. We believe that these negative tools will backfire. Yet, if they knew how, we believe that adults would use more positive approaches. Helping parents and teachers replace the outdated negative tools with positive techniques is our passion and our business!

At For Kids' Sake, we provide parents with the latest information on child growth and development from birth through the teenage years. We focus on effective and positive strategies to support parents in this vital job. Each adult who makes the shift from punishing children to guiding them will change the world, one child at a time.

Come join us in the 'kind-but-firm' parenting revolution!

We look forward to working with you!

Services Positive Parenting

Private Consultations: individual sessions to work with parents, teachers, or directors on their specific questions or concerns.

School/Child Observations: available when parents and teachers have concerns about a child's development, behavior or adjustment.

Home Visits: observation of parents and children to offer suggestions for effective interactions. Home Visits can also offer suggestions for designing the child's bedroom and home environment to promote independence, self-reliance and learning.

Kids' Coaching: a private consultation with children and parents to develop strategies for problem-solving difficult situations. Kids Coaching brings parents and children in for sessions to handle specific problems such as getting along with siblings, dealing with blended families, handling homework, learning to manage anger and aggression, and friendship skills coaching.

Choosing a School: private consultation on matching a child's learning style to a school environment is available to parents.

Director Search: For Kids' Sake can assist schools in the Director Search process, as well as in Teacher Searches.

Accreditation Consultation is available for schools working toward NAEYC Accreditation. Individualized staff training, classroom observations, and director consultations are available.

FKS PROFESSIONALS

Claire Flynn, M.Ed., trained and taught as a parent educator at Stanford University's Children's Health Council. She has two grown children, and has taught infants, toddlers, preschoolers and school-age children in school programs. She has also trained early childhood and elementary teachers at the college and graduate level for the past 35 years. She is the founder of For Kids' Sake, and is a nationally recognized author of three books for parents.

Dana Carvalho, B.S. Ed. has had more than 25 years experience in Early Childhood Education, Special Education and Elementary Education as a program administrator and classroom teacher. She has extensive experience in designing school programs for infants, toddlers and preschoolers. She has mentored teachers extensively in appropriate classroom practices. As a school administrator, she has developed adjunct programs to support parents at the Early Childhood and Elementary Education levels. At For Kids' Sake, Dana specializes in helping parents of toddlers and preschoolers understand and support their children through the developmental stages of early childhood such as separation anxiety, toilet learning, sleep success, eating struggles, and in developing independence skills to help children develop self-esteem.

Jennie Flynn, M.A.T. is a master-level teacher specializing in brain-based education. She coaches parents and kids in a variety of skills, including Anger Management and Friendship Skills.

Amy Fisher, M.Ed. is Office Manager at For Kids' Sake. She would love to help you set up a By Request Workshop for your group, or schedule an appointment for a private consultation!

All of the instructors at For Kids' Sake are parent educators in private practice.
